TO ESTABLISH AERIAL FREIGHT ROUTE

BEGIN OPERATIONS JUNE 1 LAKE CITIES TO BE LINKED

Henry Ford May Buy 400 Government Warships—Whether They Be Operated or Junked Is Question—Now Rusting In Harbors at Great Cost.

Detroit and Cleveland will be connected by aerial freight which begins operations on June first, it was announced by Major L. E. Lent, president of the International Airways company.

Planes will make two round trips between the cities a day. While the principal traffic will be freight, passengers also will be handled, it was said. The company has three Junker planes and plans getting others later.

Tentative plans call for a charge of $15 one way for passengers and 15 cents a pound or one dollar a cubic foot for freight.

Major Lent stated that sufficient contracts with Detroit and Cleveland concerns have been written to insure the financial success of the effort. The principal freight contracts calls for the transportation of baby chicks from a large firm manufacturing incubators in Cleveland.

Every kind of frieght will be handled, owever, with the loads principally consisting of small articles.

Major Lent formerly had charge of the air mail between Chicago and San Francisco. He has spent three years in organizing the present company.

Official Washington reserved opinion today on the negotiations between Chairman O'Connor of the shipping board and Henry Ford for the sale of the idle government merchant marine fleet until it was established whether Ford proposed to buy merely for junking purposes.

Even the sale for junk, however, would mark a milestone in federal shipping policy. Since the war hundreds of steel vessels have been laid up, tied together in huge groups in vacant harbor space and costing a heavy annual outlay for maintenance.

The board has tried untiringly to sell these vessels and has never given up hope of seeing them at sea in active service under the American flag. If 400 of these ships are now sold to Henry Ford to be junked it will mark the end of this phase of the board's efforts.

The junking of these ships is not regarded here, however, as a sign that the U. S. was slackening its efforts to develop a merchant marine as a going concern. The vessels involved have been proved almost useless by the unavailing efforts of the board to sell them and for years they have merely represented an annual upkeep cost. If the American merchant fleet is to develop in the opinion of our government shipping authorities here it must go ahead with more modern and practically equipped vessels than the hastily built wartime ships.

Nevertheless the lone handed attempts of Chairman O'Connor to sell Henry Ford was watched with the keenest interest in official circles the government merchant fleet to in Wasington.

O'Connor told none of his associates before leaving the purpose of his errand in Detroit and even his fellow members on the board were surprised when they were shown press reports of his negotiations with Ford.

Administration officials reserved all comment until O'Connor reported the result of his effort. If O'Connor has persuaded Ford to operate ary considerable number of vessels it would be regarded as a striking step forward in the board's attempted development of the American marine, but a sale for junking purposes only would serve no other purpose than to dispose of a great number of war built vessels which have been laid up and rusting.

Swedes Devise "Waiting Line" for Telephones

Stockholm.—The "line's busy" nuisance in telephoning has been mitigated in this city through the installation of an ingenious arrangement called the "waiting line." It will apply the "first come first served" rule to places much in demand, such as hospitals, drug stores, doctors' offices, ticket agencies, information bureaus and newspapers. This is done by the creation of a special centrol and whenever a number is reported "busy" by the operator or the automatic switching machine, the "waiting line" is called and the desired number duly recorded in the sequence of its receipt. Then, as soon as the line is clear, the connection is made.

BEER TO FLOW ON SUNDAY AT PELEE ISLAND

Clark C. Doughty Arranging Excursions for Thirsty Ohio Citizens.

Clark C. Doughty of the Ohio Tourist club, who is planning a series of Sunday excursions to Pelee Island, Lake Erie, starting May 31, has received a letter from the attorney general of Ontario, forecasting regulations for the sale of beer in Ontario under the new law effective last midnight.

The letter says the sale of beer will be authorized "in hotels and eating houses in a beverage room and also with meals. Bars will not be permitted; tables and seats will only be permitted when the beverage is consumed with a meal. It is not likely there will be a holiday restriction."

Doughty says he has information that a sandwich will constitute a 'meal' and that beer will be sold at 5 cents a glass 10 cents a bottle.

He is enthusiastic over prospects for the excursions to Pelee and also a series of Detroit excursions he plans. The Canadian city of Windsor is across the Detroit river from Detroit.

The first Detroit excursion is scheduled for the coming Sunday the trains leaving Columbus Saturday night. According to Doughty 500 tickets already have been sold for this excursion. Each ticket calls for a reserved seat.

Two hotels with bathng beeches and sport accessories are planned at Pelee Island. One is projected by Clarence and Winfield Baxter of Columbus and the other by Charles Boeckling, owner of hotels at Cedar Point. The Baxters, Doughty says will have a temporary hotel of tents and a bathing beach ready by May 31.

TORNADO'S WHIMS BAFFLE SCIENCE

Vagaries Make Research Work Very Difficult.

Washington.—The vagaries of tornadoes, one variety of which recently snuffed out more than 800 lives in the Middle West, have almost completely baffled the researches of science. The suddenness with which they strike, and the destructive force of their attack, have made scientific study extremely difficult.

Prof. William J. Humphreys of the weather bureau describes a tornado as "a violent rotating storm of small dimensions." The chances are, he says, that not once in 1,000 years would a tornado hit the same spot twice.

Name Comes From Africa.

The name tornado originally was applied to a violent thunderstorm on the west coast of Africa. The variety of storm now called by that name, however, is peculiar to the Mississippi valley region of the United States, and rarely occurs in any other part of the world. Doctor Humphrey's records show that it does not occur west of Denver; is found only occasionally in southern Canada; is rare in the eastern part of the United States, and is not destructive in or east of the Allegheny mountains except in Alabama and Georgia.

The explanation is that the Rocky mountains, extending generally north and south, guide the cold air draining to the south from the Canadian Rocky region. The drift of winds comes across the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico and starts north across the United States.

The meeting of these cold and warm currents of air starts up a rotation between them, Doctor Humphreys explains, adding that no other part of the world has that geographic configuration existing in the Rocky-Gulf area.

Less Than Mile High.

The passage of these currents establishes violent rotations at cloud levels and the whirl beats itself down to the bottom, usually from a level of less than a mile above the earth, to the ground.

The tornado only occurs in connection with a big rain or snow-bringing storm, and is usually from 1,000 to 1,500 feet wide.

The peculiar phenomenon of the tornado "skipping," striking a spot and jumping over a stretch of country, leaving it undisturbed, is not so well understood. The upper part of the tornado seems for some reason to move ahead, breaking off its lower portion, and then, as it speeds on, the whirling wind finds its way to the ground again.

FLYERS DEPICT TRADE IN FANTASTIC TERMS

United States Army Air Service Has Developed a Vocabulary All Its Own.

Washington.—The army air service, upon which the congressional spotlight has recently played with brilliancy, has developed a vocabulary all its own.

An air service officer who can't fly is popularly known as a "keewee," from the arctic bird with undeveloped wings. When one becomes confused in conversation he is referred to as being in a "flat spin." "Ground flying" denotes conversation concerning flying. When a speaker at a banquet orates at undue length an air service hint to him to "land" is to place two matches to form a T, representative of a plane's outlines.

"Ceiling" Is Highest Point

"Ceiling" is the highest point an aircraft can reach, depending on its horsepower and the air density. "Washed out" is the army aviator's designation for getting killed, and "cracked up" means a wrecked plane in which the pilot might not be dead. "Archie" is an endearing term that army flyers have for all anti-aircraft artillery.

Any particular design of aircraft is known as a "job," the propeller being termed the "prop." "Give 'er the gun" is the air equivalent of stepping on the gas to speed up. To "set down" is to land, but when the flyer tries to run parallel to the ground beyond the conventional landing height and falls a few feet in his intentional descent to mother earth, he is said "to pancake."

Nicknames of Training Planes.

A "hisso" is a training plane equipped with a Hispano-Suiza motor. A "Jenny" is a training plane of the JN type. To "take off" is to get into the air, and a "hop" is a short flight. A "barrel roll" is a complete revolution lengthwise. "To zoom" means to climb very sharply for a short period. A "sausage" is a small dirigible or balloon.

To come to the more scientific terms, an "airplane" is sustained by dynamic action, whereas an "aerostat" is an airship or balloon filled with gas lighter than air. The army air service has not developed the "ornithopter," which, bird-like, flaps its wings to aid the machine's flight, considering this type not suited to service needs. It is interested in the development of the "helicopter," capable of rising vertically by a thrust of its propeller. A "glider," which is an airplane without a motor, such as the Wright brothers first learned to fly in, is now being used by the army as a target.

ENDING THE AGONY

A certain wealthy senator got into a dispute in Washington with a hotel clerk about a difference of $1.20 in his bill. After going into every angle of the supposed overcharge for more than an hour, the senator gloomily paid the bill and went his way. Just as he passed out of the front door a motor car tire out in front blew up with a loud report like a pistol shot.

The young hotel clerk clapped his hands to his brow melodramatically, and cried:

"Good-night! The senator has shot himself!"

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting, and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

Grounds for Delay

The tired Saturday night patron at the Elite lunchroom in Hickburg had made up his mind to get some action.

"Where's that coffee I ordered?" he thundered to the waiter.

"It'll be here in just a minute now," replied the waiter. "You see, it takes a little longer to make it on Saturday nights."

"Why is that?"

"Well, we put in fresh grounds on Sundays, an' 'long toward Saturday they get kind o' weak."—Judge.

Oil Gives Osage Indians Income of $12,000 Each

Washington.—Osage Indians are waxing rich on oil. Minerals, including oil and gas, underlying the Osage reservation, embracing 1,400,000 acres, are reserved to the Osage tribe as a whole. The revenue from them is distributed quarterly among 2,229 enrolled Indians or their heirs. During the year the revenue has aggregated approximately $12,000 each.

"In the case of the Logan family," a statement by the interior department says, "the husband has inherited shares from deceased relatives in addition to his own, making his annual income $28,000. His wife also has inherited shares, bringing her total income to $30,000 annually. One minor child has one share aggregating $12,000, the total for the family at the present time aggregating about $70,000, representing bonuses and royalties on oil and gas leases during the year."

The Logans are listed by the Indian office as "restricted Indians." To the husband and wife $4,000 each is paid annually, and they are allowed $2,000 from the minor's share. The rest is held for them by the government.

Another full-blooded Osage Indian, Mary Elkins, about twenty-five years old and under guardianship, inherited seven and one-half shares in addition to her own, and receives approximately $102,000 a year.

Radium Found to Kill or Isolate Microbes

Paris.—Microbes can be destroyed or isolated by the use of radium, according to conclusive proof presented the Biological society by Professor Lacassagne. The discovery, which is of the greatest importance in the treatment of all infectious diseases, is received as a triumph.

Professor Lacassagne succeeded in isolating streptococci by killing staphylococci in the same mixture. The application of B-rays and radium killed one kind of microbe immediately, isolating the other, which was destroyed by a stronger application of rays. It is considered that this is the first time it has definitely been proved that microbes can be separated and destroyed, as treatments hitherto have faced the chief difficulty of the impossibility of determining the degree of radium necessary to kill a microbe without a bad effect on the patient.

Proof of Napoleon's Genius.

The genius of Napoleon discovered at length the supreme refuge of the wise man, but only after he had wasted many years in various futile activities, such as remaking the map of Eurose and the legal code of France. It was after attaining true wisdom that he wrote: "The bed has become a place of luxury to me. I would not exchange it for all the thrones in the world."—Exchange.

REJUVENATION

Of Statues Is Not Janitor Work Says Custodian of Cleveland Federal Building.

Cleveland, May 14.—(U. P.)—Miss Commerce may have to appeal to Congress before she can get a bath.

"Rejuvenation of statues isn't janitor work," insisted Custodian Mussbaum of the Cleveland Federal Building when asked about the smoke-begrimed condition of the statute out in front.

"We tried to wash the old girl and now you come and say she looks as bad as ever."

"The only thing we can do is wait for a congressional appropriation authorizing a special contract for sand blast treatment," Mussbaum said.

AMUSEMENTS

When "Hot Dog" a novelty film comedy acted entirely by small animals, comes to the Met theater tonight, motion picture fans will have a chance to see the greatest thing that was ever made for the silver screen. It concerns a romance in which the heroine is impersonated by a White Highlander and the hero by one of the most intelligent bulldogs in the world.

"Hot Dog" is a most genuine cinema in which no human beings appear, but instead there are dogs, rabbits, monkeys, cats, turkeys, chickens, apes and a white rat all dressed up as people.

It took two years to train the various animals before production was started. The settings are in a miniature village built especially for this purpose and there is a real plot in which the villain kidnaps the bride and escapes with her to the city.

He takes her to a cabaret where a jazz band composed of rabbits play the latest musical numbers and a score of chickens perform as dancers.

The prospective bridegroom pursues in a miniature automobile which in resemblance is not very much unlike a Ford, but is evaded when the runaway couple board a train operated entirely by monkeys. There is a train wreck, leaving disaster in its wake, and final romantic reconliciation with the bride returning to the wedding.

During a preview of "Hot Dog" recently, critics were unanimous in praising this novelty feature as a great addition to the screen. Until now, they pointed out, only one animal occasionally was sufficient wonder for audiences, but now that "Hot Dog" is released public taste will change to a liking of more films of this sort.

"News" in "Newport News"
The origin of the name of the city of Newport News is uncertain. It is believed to be derived from two proper names—Newport and Newce. YESTERDAY'S SOLUTION—

Tomorrow another Cross-word Puzzle will be published along with solution of today's problem.

Producing and Marketing

Usually demand more of a business man's time and thought than do his financial problems, but when such problems do arise the need for prompt and satisfactory solution is always urgent.

Many business men find it advantageous to bring such problems to officers of The First National Bank, which by virtue of its FEDERAL RESERVE MEMBERSHIP, commands the broadest source of information and is enabled to supply a scope and quality of service otherwise unobtainable.

this oven works like a double boiler

You've used double boilers, of course, and know how safely cereals and other delicate foods can be cooked in them. The famous Fresh Air Oven of the Estate Gas Range is built exactly like a double boiler, and distributes heat in the same way. No more "humps"—no more scorching—instead, pies and cakes and cookies that melt in the mouth. It's different—this Estate oven—but it's founded on a principle as old as the double boiler. Let us show you how it works—today.

Small Fur Pieces for Summer Wear

Warm Accessory May Not Be Given Preference Over Filmy Scarf.

It is certain that the small fur piece will again be fashionable, says a fashion writer. It is almost equally assured that summer furs will not be so indiscriminately and universally worn as they were for three seasons. Women never made a greater sacrifice in the name of fashion than when they wound about their necks pieces of warm, bushy fur on sweltering days in town or under a blazing sun from the gallery at tennis and golf matches. The more pronounced the contrast between frock and fur the more chic, and fair skins were hardened in sentiment, at least, against the obvious discomfort, to the display of a fox skin or a bit of sable over a frock of diaphanous material. A sanity and sense of moderation that appear to be leavening the whole of clothes have touched the dressing of the neck and scarfs of fur, wool, silk, crepe or the gauzy stuffs will be displayed with a better idea of taste and seasonableness.

For spring, that is now here, a neckpiece of fur will be worn with street suits of almost every type, with the one-piece, two-piece, the strictly tailored and with some of the ensemble costumes. Fewer of these than formerly are trimmed with fur about the neck though some have the attached scarf, of fur or other material, both for protection and to give a finished appearance to the ensemble. Fox is pre-eminently the fur for spring. Silver fox is absolutely the rage, kit fox, "pointed" fox, the red and orange and white. One full skin, perfect in quality, is most popular. A smaller neckpiece of sable, or any one of the new and cheaper furs, is very chic, and some of the latest things among the imported novelties are standing collars to close straight around the neck. These also are made of the small furs, of ostrich or marabou. It is considered smart to have the fur neckpiece small, and the neck dressed close, rather than fluffily, with the very large scarfs that were worn two seasons ago.

The woman who cannot abide fur about her neck when the days are warm will be able to find from an elaborate display of new neckpieces many beautiful scarfs of different styles. Some are strikingly original. For example, a long straight scarf of snowy white liberty gauze, in fine lengthwise plaits, is trimmed at each end with long black monkey fur. A scarf of black chiffon is bordered all about with white fox. Hand painting, once the bete noir of artists and couturiers, is used in the decoration of some charming scarfs in the new soft flower shades of crepe and chiffon, the pattern being outlined in detail with bright gold, both showy and beautiful in effect.

Coats of Cretonne One of Season's Novelties

Fashion, which this season speaks in terms of color, has brought out few things more delightfully smart than the various costumes which prove so conclusively that chintz and cretonne have possibilities little dreamed of in the days gone by when their sole purpose in life was to serve as decorative hangings and furniture coverings.

Recently a designer well known for her individual and distinctive modes has developed from cretonne the most stunning coats for resort wear. Fashioned of French hand-blocked linens and cretonnes, they are striking in color and design and have all the elements of chic and novelty which make for success.

Pink Roses Trim Chic Hat of Black Milan

For the woman who clings to the cloche is this neat little hat of black milan, trimmed with pink roses.

Here's a New Color

Have we a new color among us? We have. The very latest one, as late as a sporting extra, is blotting paper pink. It is being shown in the form of an evening cape of silk velvet worn over a simple straight evening frock of the same shade embroidered in lavender-colored pearls.

Orchids and Roses

An attractive hat of orchid georgette crepe is trimmed with roses in shades of pink and rose and has rose petals on the end of the scarf which is wrapped once around the throat and falls over the left shoulder.

PARISH HOUSE

WOMAN'S CLUB CARD PARTY

One of The Most Successful Affairs in History of Organization.

Forty-three tables of players filled every available corner of the parish house Thursday evening at the card party given by the Business and Professional Women's club of this city.

The always pretty parish house was enhanced by the addition of flowers in windows and on stage and the arrangement of the tables made the room a very beautiful sight.

Misses Mildred Minser, Frances Whaley at the piano and Alice Shepherd vocalist, all county normal students were much appreciated

Refreshments consisting of shaped sandwiches in appropriate forms, pickle and coffee were served.

This party was perhaps one of the most successful of the many nicely arranged affairs which this organization has sponsored and the club is very proud of ts success. There are few card clubs in the city which were not represented.

Mrs Harp Van Riper was chairman of the committee in charge and with Mrs. W. J. Graham, president of the club, much credit is due for their untiring work.

Sir Oliver Lodge Out in Defense of Angels

London.—Sir Oliver Lodge has publicly come out on the side of the angels, and the famous student of the occult declares he is convinced that not only do angels exist, but there are many grades of beings higher than man.

Speaking at Greyfriars, Sir Oliver said there was no reason to doubt the existence of many grades of celestial beings. In Revelation they are called cherubim, seraphim, angels and archangels, and science, so far as it has progressed, makes it impossible to hold that man is the last word in creation.

When one opens a door in answer to the meowing of a cat, that is a miracle from the cat's point of view, said Lodge, and in the same way the interference in our behalf of supernatural powers is a miracle to us.
